But the wind ring is tumbling to pieces. Soldiers are leaving disgusted and disheart-need; and whol leaving dispussed and disheartened; and whole States have gone back to their home in the National galaxy. Maryland and D laware will never again be shaken. Kentucky has intrenched lerself in the Union, behind a wall of bayonets in the hards of her own sturdy sors. Missouri is as firmly set in the National galaxy as Massachusetts. Teonessee tempestost and bolt-riven, under the guidance of lengreat pilot, steers for her old mouring, and will be sately unchored before the leaves fail; while the rays of light from the old North while the rays of light from the old North State, flashing out faultly from her durkness across that troubled wave, shows that she stars, is not lost, but is struggling to rejoin her sisters. None of these States will ever join the sisters. None of these States will ever join the South again. Then, with crippled armies—with devastated fields—with devolate cities—with disheartened soldiers, and, worse than all, with weak and corrupt leaders, what hope is left to the new remaining States, but especially to poor oppressed and down-trodden Alkaneas? None! Better get our brothers home while they are left to us. Open the way for the return of husbands, fathers, and sons, and bind up the broken links of the old Urion. We publish on the first page of this morning's Journal the complete address of E. W. Gantt.

We learn by a despatch from General Burnside's headquarters that all is right there. His army feels entirely safe. This is most | the applause the movement receives from the gratifying intelligence. Burke pronounced the French revolution causeless. We think he was wrong, but the words in which he asserted the error are singularly true of this rebellion. Alluding to the Parliament of Paris, in his Reflections en the Revolution in France, he said: "They have seen the French rebel against a mild and lawful monarch, with more fury, outrage, and insult, than ever any people has been known to rise against the most illegal usnrper, or the most senguinary tyrant. Their resistance was made to concession; their revolt was from protection; their blow was aimed | cal grimalkin's second appearance in the conat a hand holding out graces, favors, and immunities." With what fidelity both detected and exposed on his first appearand felicity does this language describe the ance, we think the dodge may be fairly conmad rebellion of the South. Nor is the accompanying reflection of Burke less apposits Democrat" in the mouths of the radicals has to the Southern rebellion. "This," he immediately adds, "was unnatural. The rest is in public. It can no longer deceive anybody. cider." And he then proceeds to depict "the Every Democrat who is a conservative is rest" is terms which though more eloquent | really a War Democrat, and the appellation are certainly not more heart-rending or more | in the months of conservatives signifies nothappalling than those in which Mr. Gantt in | ing more or less than the word conservative the address we publish elsewhere depicts "the itself, though, as the appellation is so much rest' of this infernal rebellion. The rebellion abused by the radicals, the conservatives i'self is indeed "nnnatural;" but "the rest is | would in cur judgment act wisely to drop in order." Nothing could be more natural it altogether. For its signification is very than the terrible consequences which have different in the mouths of the radicals, and it flowed from it. Nothing could be more "in is in their mouths all the time. When the order" than such consequences.

If the reader would catch a glimpse of these consequences, let him examine the address of they do not mean a Democrat who is in favor Mr. Gantt. The disclosures of this address are of the war, but a Democrat who is in favor of worthy of profound meditation. They show the radical aim and management of the war,in a striking manner how fearfully the re- a Democrat, in short, who supports the radical belion has proved its own junishment. We | ticket. They mean such a Democrat as Benconfess we think Mr. Gantt commits a very | jamin F. Butler or Andrew Johnson or Robgrave error in principle when he represents | ert Dale Owen. In a word, the phrase "War the rebellion as binging on an irrepressible Democrat' in the mouths of the radicals is conflict between the institutions of the South | mercly another form of expression for aboliand of the North, and a very grave error in pol- tionized Democrat. And this the public now icy when he tells the Southern people they | comprehend. Hence, the phrase has lost whatmust prepare to surrender their own institu- ever power to deceive it may have once postions as a consequence of the triumph of the sessed. It is fast becoming a name of oppro-Uniou, these views belonging rather to the bium and of weakness instead of a name of cause Mr. Gantt has abandoned than to the power. The radicals have disgraced it, as cause we trust he has in good faith espoused; but, as respects the wickedness of the rebel leaders and the hopelessness of the rebellion itself, Mr. G.'s address is assuredly most instructive and impressive. The startling facts it exhibits cannot fail to exert a strong | the actors laugh in each other's faces. and salutary influence on the betrayed and suffering masses of the South. Heaven grant that such may be the result. As causeless rebellion is the spring of all their evils, so aubmission to the lawful authority of the Union is the true and only remedy for them.

The people of the South noted madly in | for them to eat? We suppose they are alrebelling. They see the effect. Nay, they most as ill-fed as the Federal prisoners. feel it with sgonizing acuteness. "Their resistance was made to concession"; and they are groaning under merciless exactions. "Their revoit was from protection"; and they are experiencing murderous oppresgion. "Their blow was aimed at a hand holding out graces, favors, and immunities' and they are deprived of these blessings. Now, let them cease their "resistance", abanden their "revolt", and no longer aim their 'hlow" at the paternal hand of the Union, and in due season and in due form "concession" and "protection", together with "graces, | they can master the English themselves. favors, and immunities", will once more be theirs. This is a most honorable way of re- ly lost $40,000 at a single sitting. There is perhaps no other State in the country in which volunteering goes on so rapidly as in Indiana. The quota of that State, under the Government's last call, has been nearly filled, and we pre saured that it will be filled entirely within the next few days. A desperate charge was made by the enemy at about 3 P. M. Our men were protected by rail harricades on the crest of a hill. General Sauders was severely wounded, and was borne from the field. We yielded the position and fell back a third of a mile to a stronger one. We have lost 100 meu, a quarter of whom were killed. The enemy had completely invested the place, but Gen. Burnside will defead it to the last man, and, it is believed, successfully. Onr troops are in the hest spirits. Our important point is fortified, and confidence prevails that we shall whip the enemy.

Special to the Herald. Gen. Longstreet, after crossing the Tennes-sec river on Saturday morning, the 14th inst., was attacked in the evening by Gen. Burnide, who drove the advance guard back to within a mile of the river's edge by night Longstreet crossed the remainder of his morning, advanced in force. Ger. Burnside, finding it impossible to cope with him with the small force at his disposal, fell hack to Levoire, the rear guard skirmishing heavily with the enemy throughout the day. The desperate charges were made upon our position during Sunday night, but they were repulsed. On Monday me rning Goneral Burnside evacuated Leneure, but, owing to the pursuit that were kept up, he determined to give there a decided check, and accordingly came into line of battle at Campbell'e Station, where a fight ensued, lasting accordingly came into line of battie at Gampbell's Station, where a fight ensued, lasting from late in the morning until dark. Our first position commanded the long on both were from attacked by the chemy, who made several gallant charges, and finally succeeded in outflanking our men by driving them to the cover of the batteries, which now opened a terrific and destructive first. The rebels retried before it and gave war, and evenually red before it and gave way, and eventually showing a desire to renew the attack, and having brought three batteries to their assistance, Gen. Burnside fell back to a more advantagecus position, and again give them battle. The contest continued, closing at nightfall with our troops in possession of their own ground. The object of the fight baving been obtained, and, as the detention night, and reached Knoxvill; where a grent battle is expected to-morrow. Yesterday the rebel's advance guard attinued all day. This morning the attack was resumed. The rebals finding it imposible to frive with infantry, brought several guns into osition, and poured in a flanking fire. In he evening they brought torward a heavier skirmich, charged our position. A terrific band to hand conflict occurred. Our men fought with the greatest gallantry, but as lat were compelled to fall back a out one-third of a unle to a strong line, which they hold We have to regret the wonnding of Gen. the 20th Michigan, was killed at Campbell's Station.
